? TRAIL AND HIKER SAFETY

- » The Casque Isles Trail is a recreational hiking trail in a natural, wilderness environment.
- » The trail is classified as difficult ♦. In some places there will be steps and ladders. There will be some steep climbs and the trail tread is of natural material. There are many parts of the trail that may be considered as "less" difficult; they provide for easy walking between the more technical/challenging parts.
- » Cellular coverage is sporadic along the trail. You should need to be self-reliant in case of an accident.
- » Always bring enough food and water for the planned outing and in the event of an emergency. (bring extra in case)
- » There are unmaintained campsites along the trail.
- » Do not hike alone. Let people know the section(s) of the trail you are hiking. If you do not know anyone in the area, make sure to leave notes at your vehicle or message us on Facebook: @casqueisles.
- » Wear proper footwear and dress for the conditions.
- » Firearms are prohibited. Keep dogs on a leash at all times.
- » There are some bridges, but you may have to wade streams, some of which may be swollen with seasonal high waters or rain events.
- » For emergencies, please call 9-1-1.

OFFICIAL HIKING BROCHURE

The Casque Isles Trail (Ontario, Canada)—a section of the Voyageur Trail—is a signed and groomed recreational hiking trail that offers scenic vistas to visitors who wish to experience the majestic and rugged beauty of Lake Superior's shoreline. Beginning in Rosspoint, passing through Schreiber and ending in Terrace Bay, the trail spans 53 km (32.9 mi) in length. For hikers not wishing to make the full trek, the trail is divided into five segments, each with its own access point from Ontario Highway 17 (the Trans-Canada Highway) and presenting a unique wilderness experience. The segments vary in length and difficulty, so that both the advanced and beginner hikers can enjoy the beautiful Canadian north shore of Lake Superior.
